SelectUSA promotes global business investment in the U.S., serving two clients: U.S. economic development organizations, and foreign investors. David leads SelectUSA’s work in the United States, while continuing to manage the seven northeast U.S. states, plus New Jersey and Pennsylvania. Prior to joining SelectUSA, David worked for ThyssenKrupp and the Representative of German Industry + Trade (BDI-DIHK liaison office). Prior to moving to Washington, DC in 2006, David worked at Arthur Andersen for six years. During law school, he clerked for Attorney General Blumenthal (D-CT). During college, he interned for Congresswoman DeLauro (D-CT). A licensed attorney and CPA, David studied German at Yale, accounting at the University of Hartford, and law at the Indiana University Maurer School of Law. David grew up in Connecticut (Manchester).
